As regards the reception at Delhi of the Ruling Chiefs who are expected to attend the Imperial Coronation Durbar next December, I am directed to forward, for information, a printed statement showing the Military honours to which Chiefs visiting a presidency town or a military station are usually entitled under paragraph 510 of the Army Regulations, India, Volume II. Following the precedent of 1903, it is proposed that the Chiefs on arrival at Delhi should be given the usual salute which would be fired from the fort, and also the guard-of-honour and escort to camp, set out in columns 4 and 6 of the statement. On the occasion of their reception by His Majesty the King-Emperor they will be given the customary guards-of-honour, but it is hoped that they, as a rule, will be able to provide their own escorts. Where this is not possible, the escorts will be arranged for by the military authorities. On the departure of the Chiefs from Delhi they would, in any case, get the salute, the grant of the honours in columns 4 and 6 depending on whether their departure is private or public. As regards the escort and guard mentioned in columns 7 and 8, the number of Chiefs will be so large that there would be much inconvenience in providing a daily cavalry escort, and also a daily guard on their residence. It is hoped, therefore, that the majority of Chiefs will be able to provide their own daily escort and guard during their stay in Delhi. The Chiefs who have contingents with the Imperial Service Troops in Delhi can obtain their escorts and guards from these contingents. The other Chiefs will no doubt have irregular troops with them, from which the escort and guard can be provided. I am to enquire whether you agree to these proposals.

2. I am to take this opportunity of saying that, in accordance with the precedents of 1877 and of 1903, salutes will be fired for Governors and other Heads of Provinces, for Ruling Chiefs and high officials only on their arrival at, and departure from, Delhi. The question of salutes on the arrival of Chiefs on the occasion of their reception by His Majesty will be settled hereafter. No other salutes will be fired during the period over which the Durbar functions will extend except for or by the command of His Majesty. Any visits from one Ruling Chief to another, or between high officials and Ruling Chiefs, should be of an informal character. The Chiefs need not, therefore, bring artillery with them.

(3. It will probably be possible to make an exception in the case of the Chiefs of Travancore, Cochin and Pudukkottai as regards the daily escorts and guards

() To Madras only.

mentioned in columns 7 and 8 of the statement, if they are unable to bring their escorts and guards from so great a distance. Chiefs should provide necessary accommodation for such guards and escorts, if required.)

[4. In the case of the Sikkim and Bhutan Chiefs who will have no troops of their own, both the daily escort and guard (columns 7 and 8 of statement)

[] To Sikkim only.

will be furnished by the Government of India.]

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bombay, Political

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 4798-D., dated 13th July 1911, enquiring, with reference to the proposals made for according military honours to Ruling Chiefs on the occasion of the forthcoming Coronation Durbar at Delhi, what number of sowars will be allowed to escort a Chief on the Durbar and other occasions.

2. In reply, I am to say that, for the Review, the Presentation of Colours and the Durbar, the Chiefs may be escorted by the escorts noted in column 6 of the statement appended to the Foreign Department letter No. 330-D., dated 6th June 1911, and that, for the Garden Party and for all Night functions, the smaller escorts noted in column 7 may be used. For the State Entry Chiefs entitled to salutes of 15 guns and over may have escorts as large as but not exceeding one squadron, and those who have salutes of less than 15 guns escorts of the strength of but not exceeding one troop. These escorts must, however, be provided by the Chiefs themselves. Where escorts are provided by Government the escorts will be of the strength noted in column 6 of the statement mentioned above.

2. The heads of Local Governments and Administrations, on arrival at Delhi, will receive the salutes and be given the Guard of Honour to which they are entitled by regulation, as shown in columns 2 and 3 of the statement, except in cases where, for special reasons, it is desired that the arrival should be private.

3. As regards escorts and orderlies, it is understood that the Governors of Madras and Bombay intend to bring with them a portion of their own Bodyguards and that Their Excellencies will, therefore, require no provision to be made on this account. It is also assumed that the Bodyguards, if a sufficient number are brought, will also be able to provide the necessary camp guards on the Governors' Camps, and that Infantry guards will not be required. For Lieutenant-Governors, Chief Commissioners and Agents to the Governor-General and Residents of the 1st class, it is proposed to give the escorts shown in column 4 of the statement, and to provide Infantry camp guards as shown in column 5.
